THE WARRIOR STAFF

IS

WOODLAND?

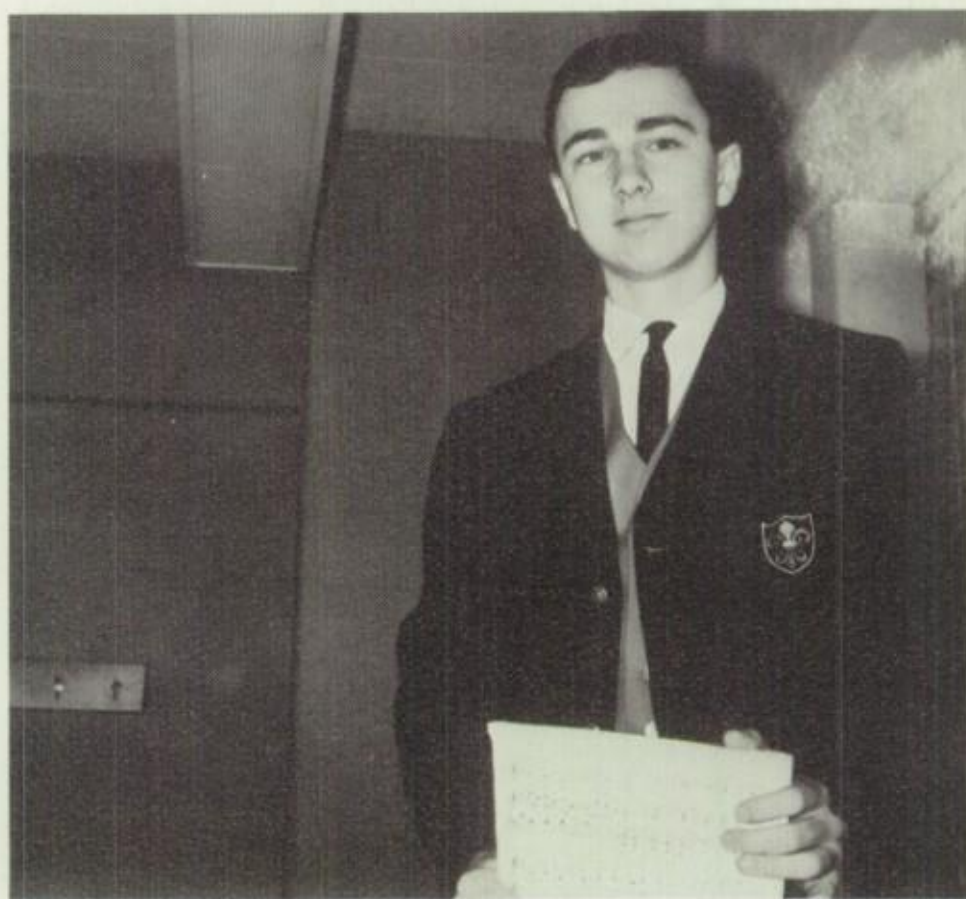

Woodland is a bus ride after a ball game and a coach smiling as he adds up the score after a ball game. It's two girls trying to get a transcribing machine to work, and it's a new set of bleachers for the football field,. Woodland is a guidance counselor laughing at test results; a superintendent trying to balance a budget; a crowd after a game; a girl doing time cards in Office Practice; a girl dressed up for Hobo Day; a principal and a coach discussing the game; and it's a king and queen of the FHA Dance.

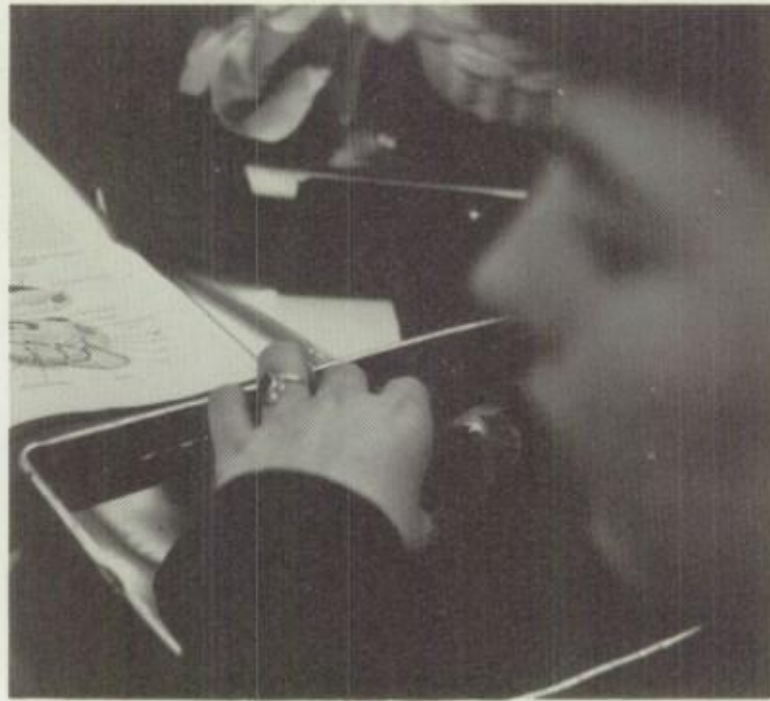

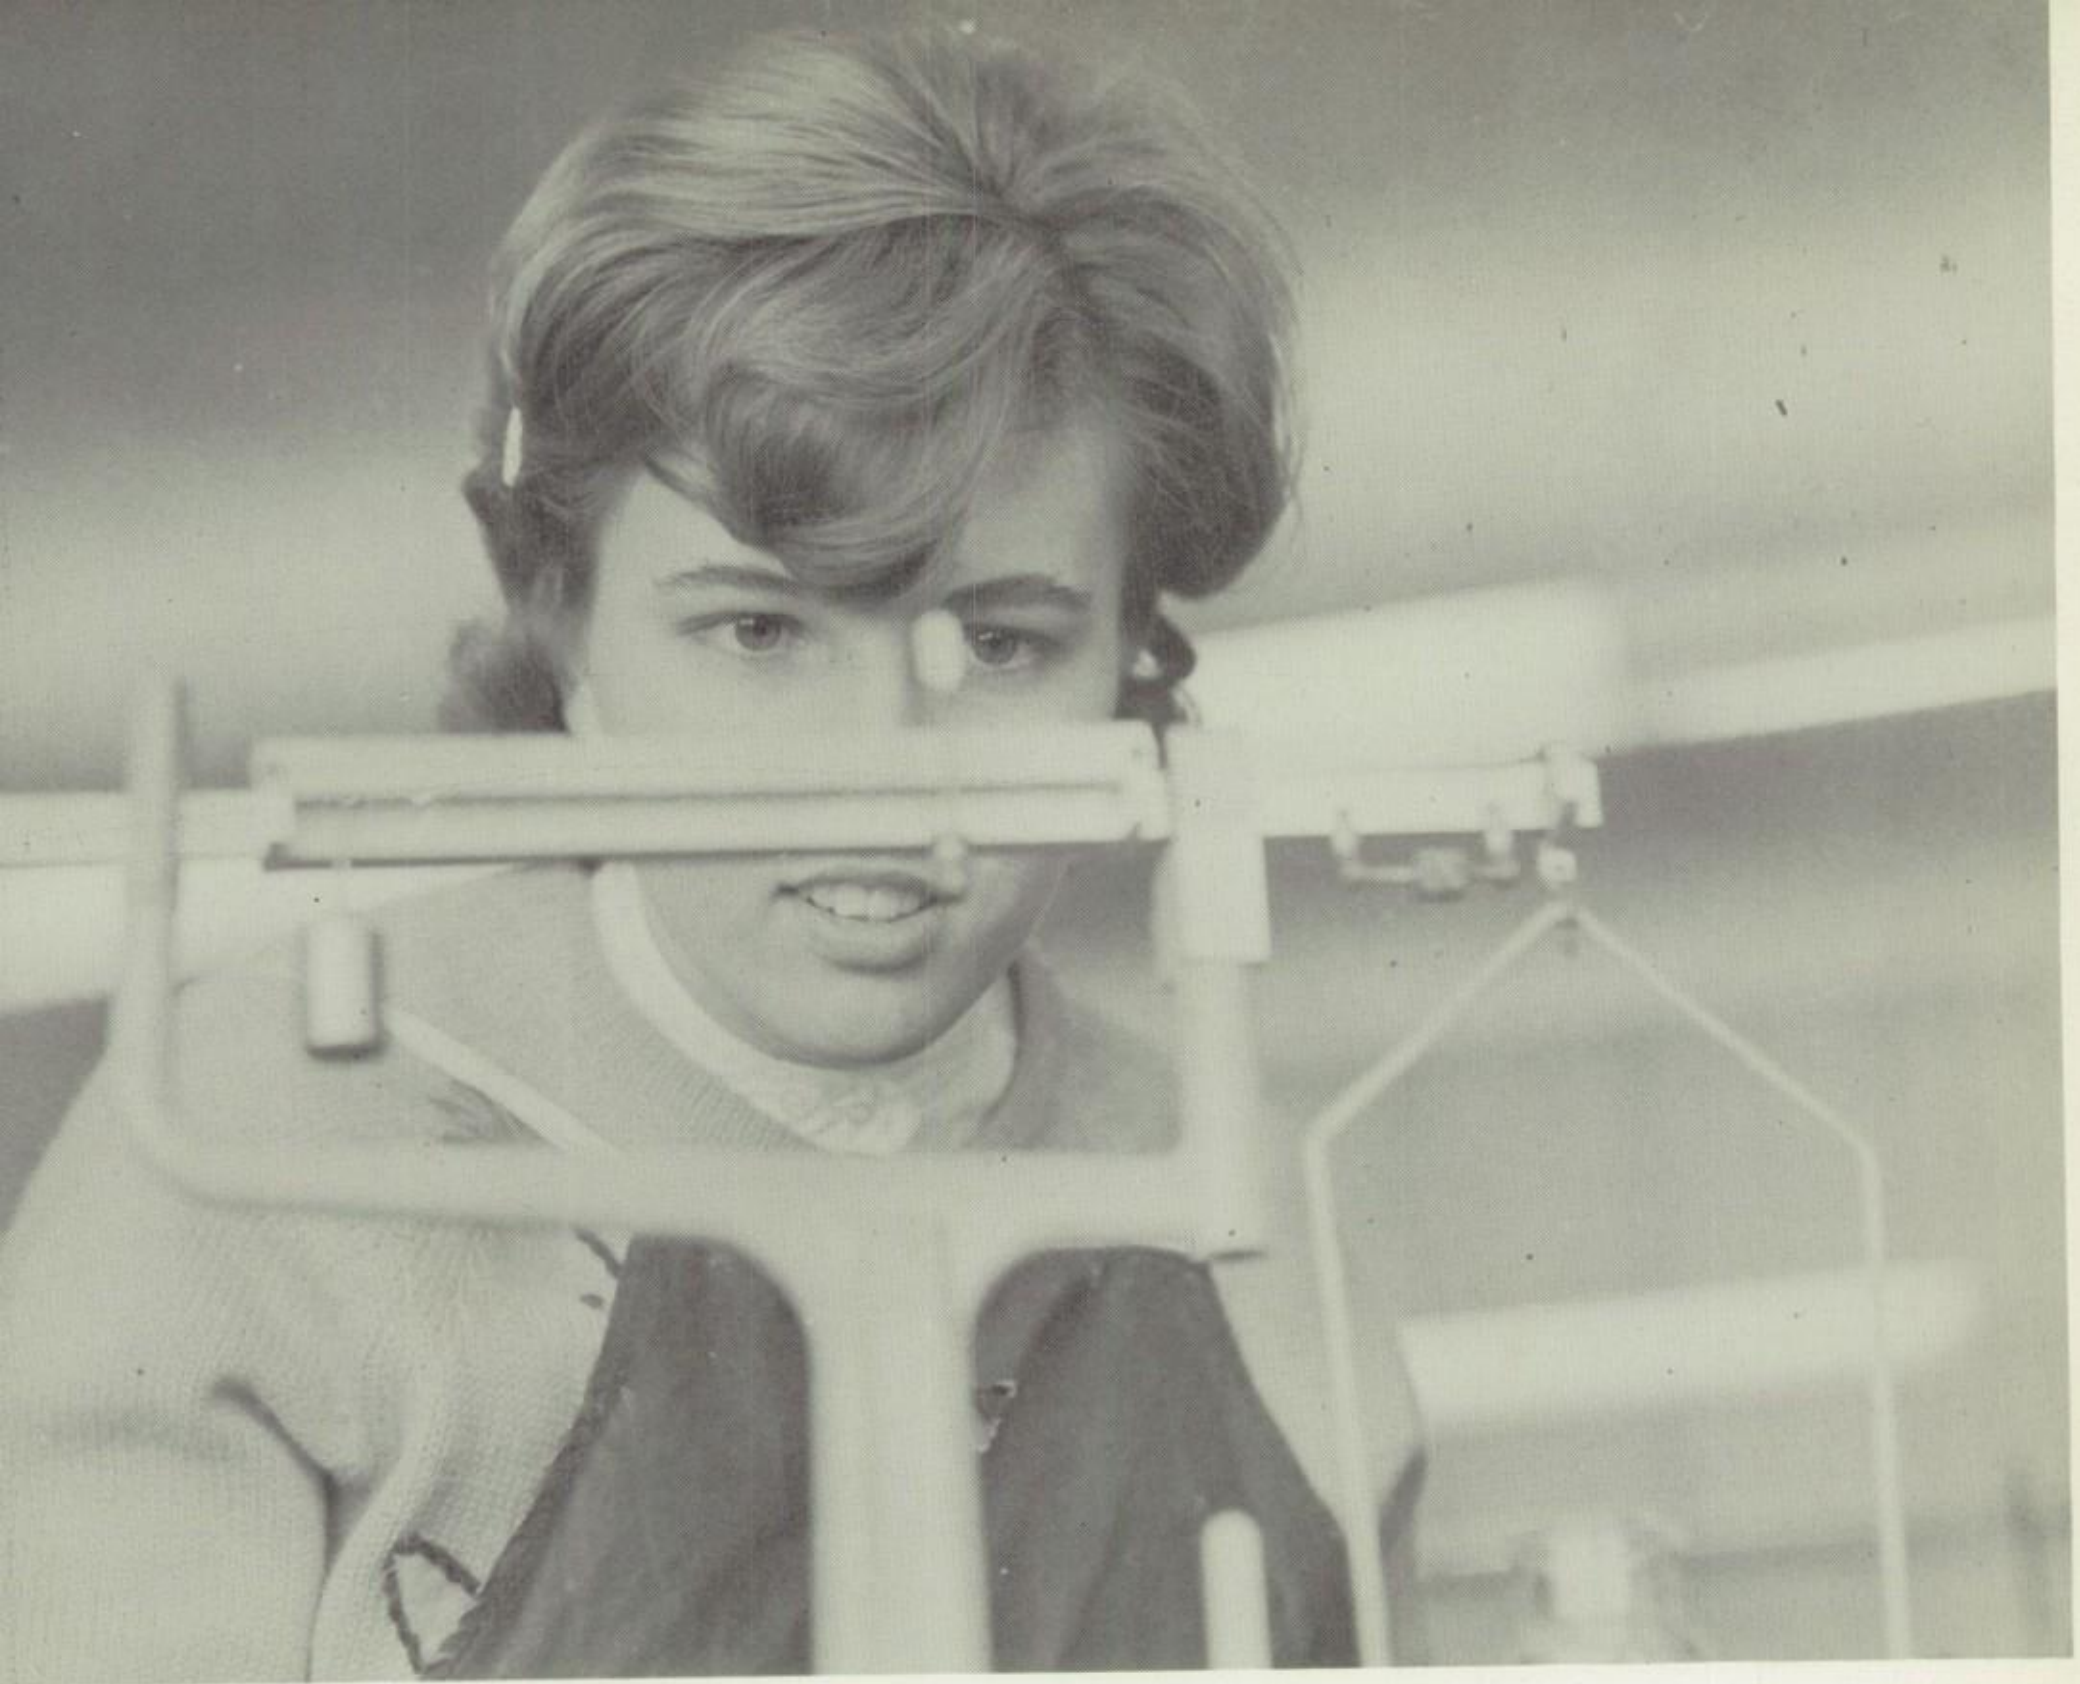

Woodland is cheerleaders and a teacher selling tickets and Marti Nimke waiting to sing at contest. It's waiting in line for your T.B. test and finally getting the test. Woodland is Mrs. Ritchie Carrying themes. It's Mr. Heth looking like parts of a police line-up and it's Mixed Chorus.

Woodland is a laboratory where squeamish girls learn to pick up a worm for the first time in their life and young chemists puzzle over the mysteries of compounds.

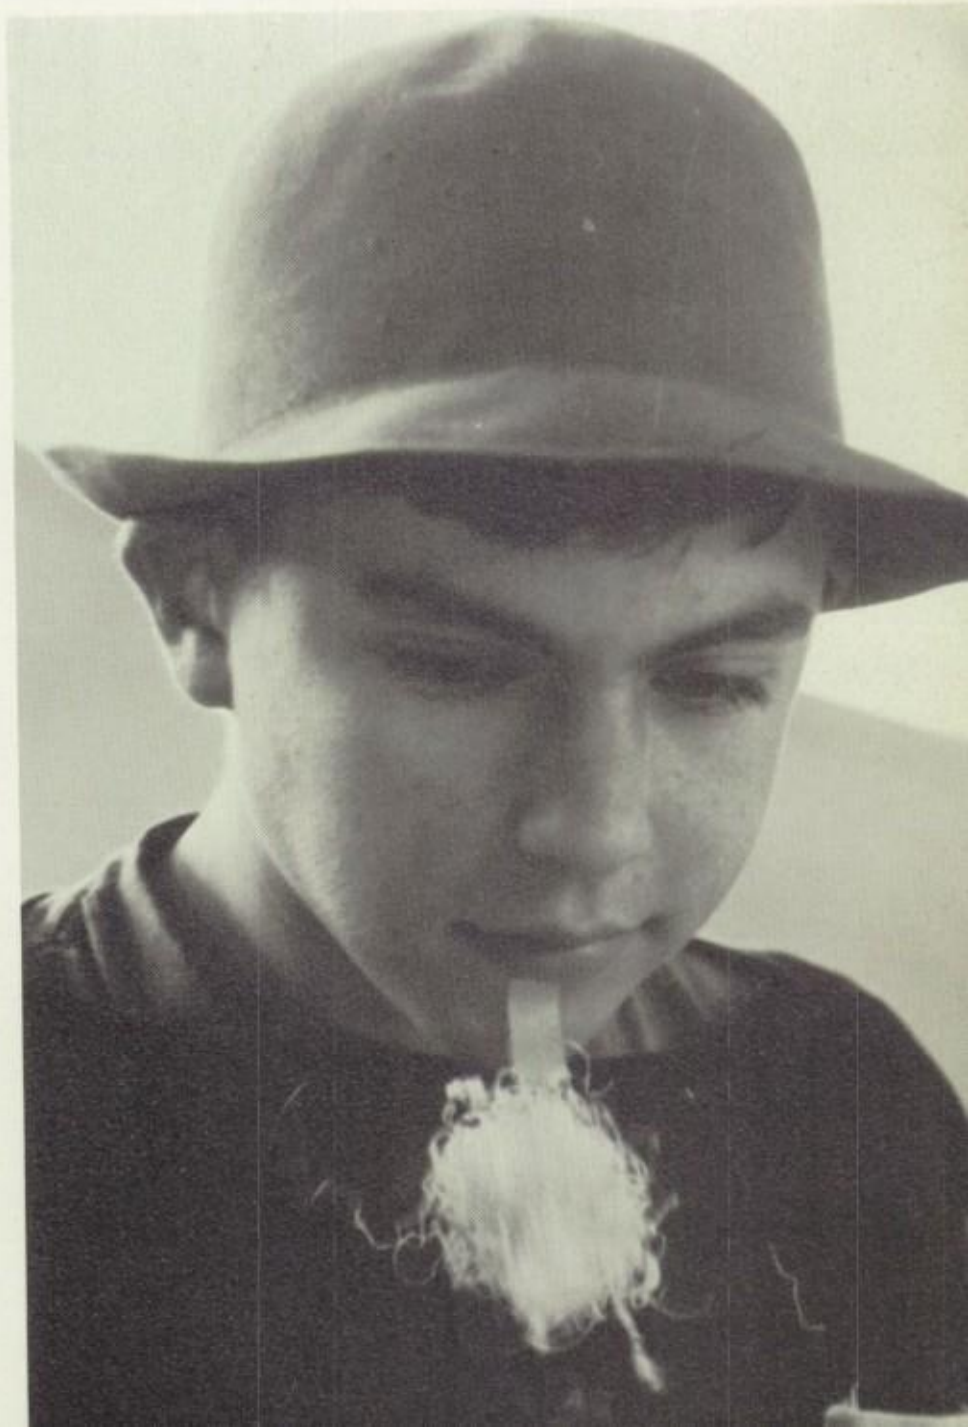

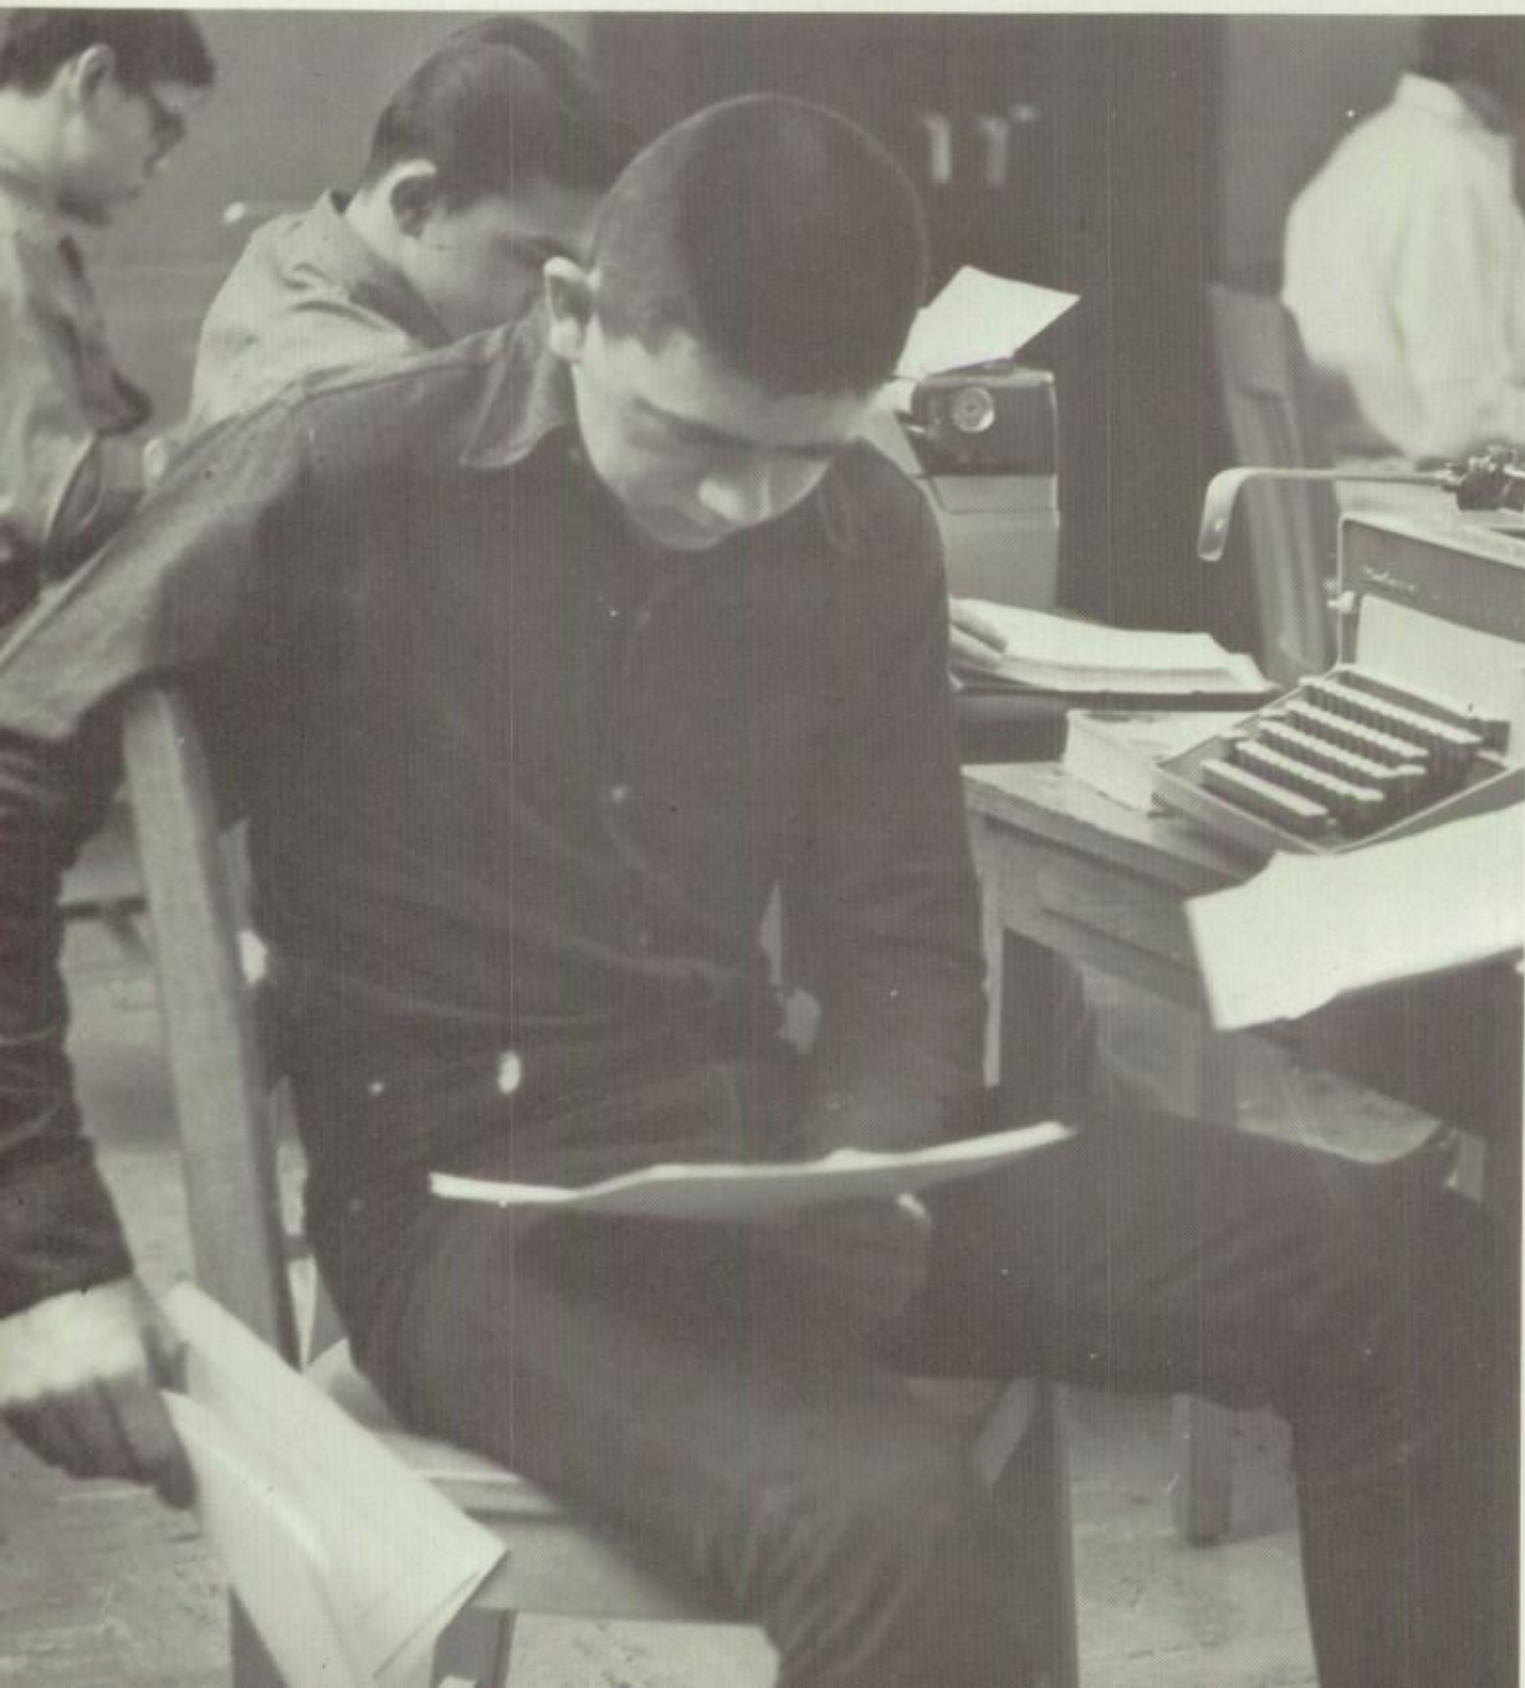

Woodland is HOBO DAY!

Woodland is girls singing at contest and Don Hallam finishing up his manuscript in typing. (What a relief to have that finished!) Woodland is seniors participating in the senior Bowl and having girl's glee in the Home Ec. Room.

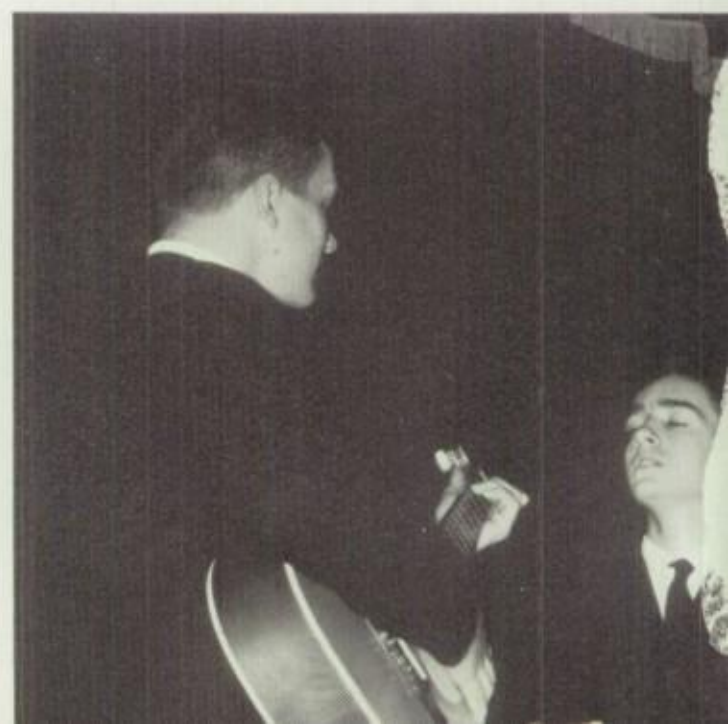

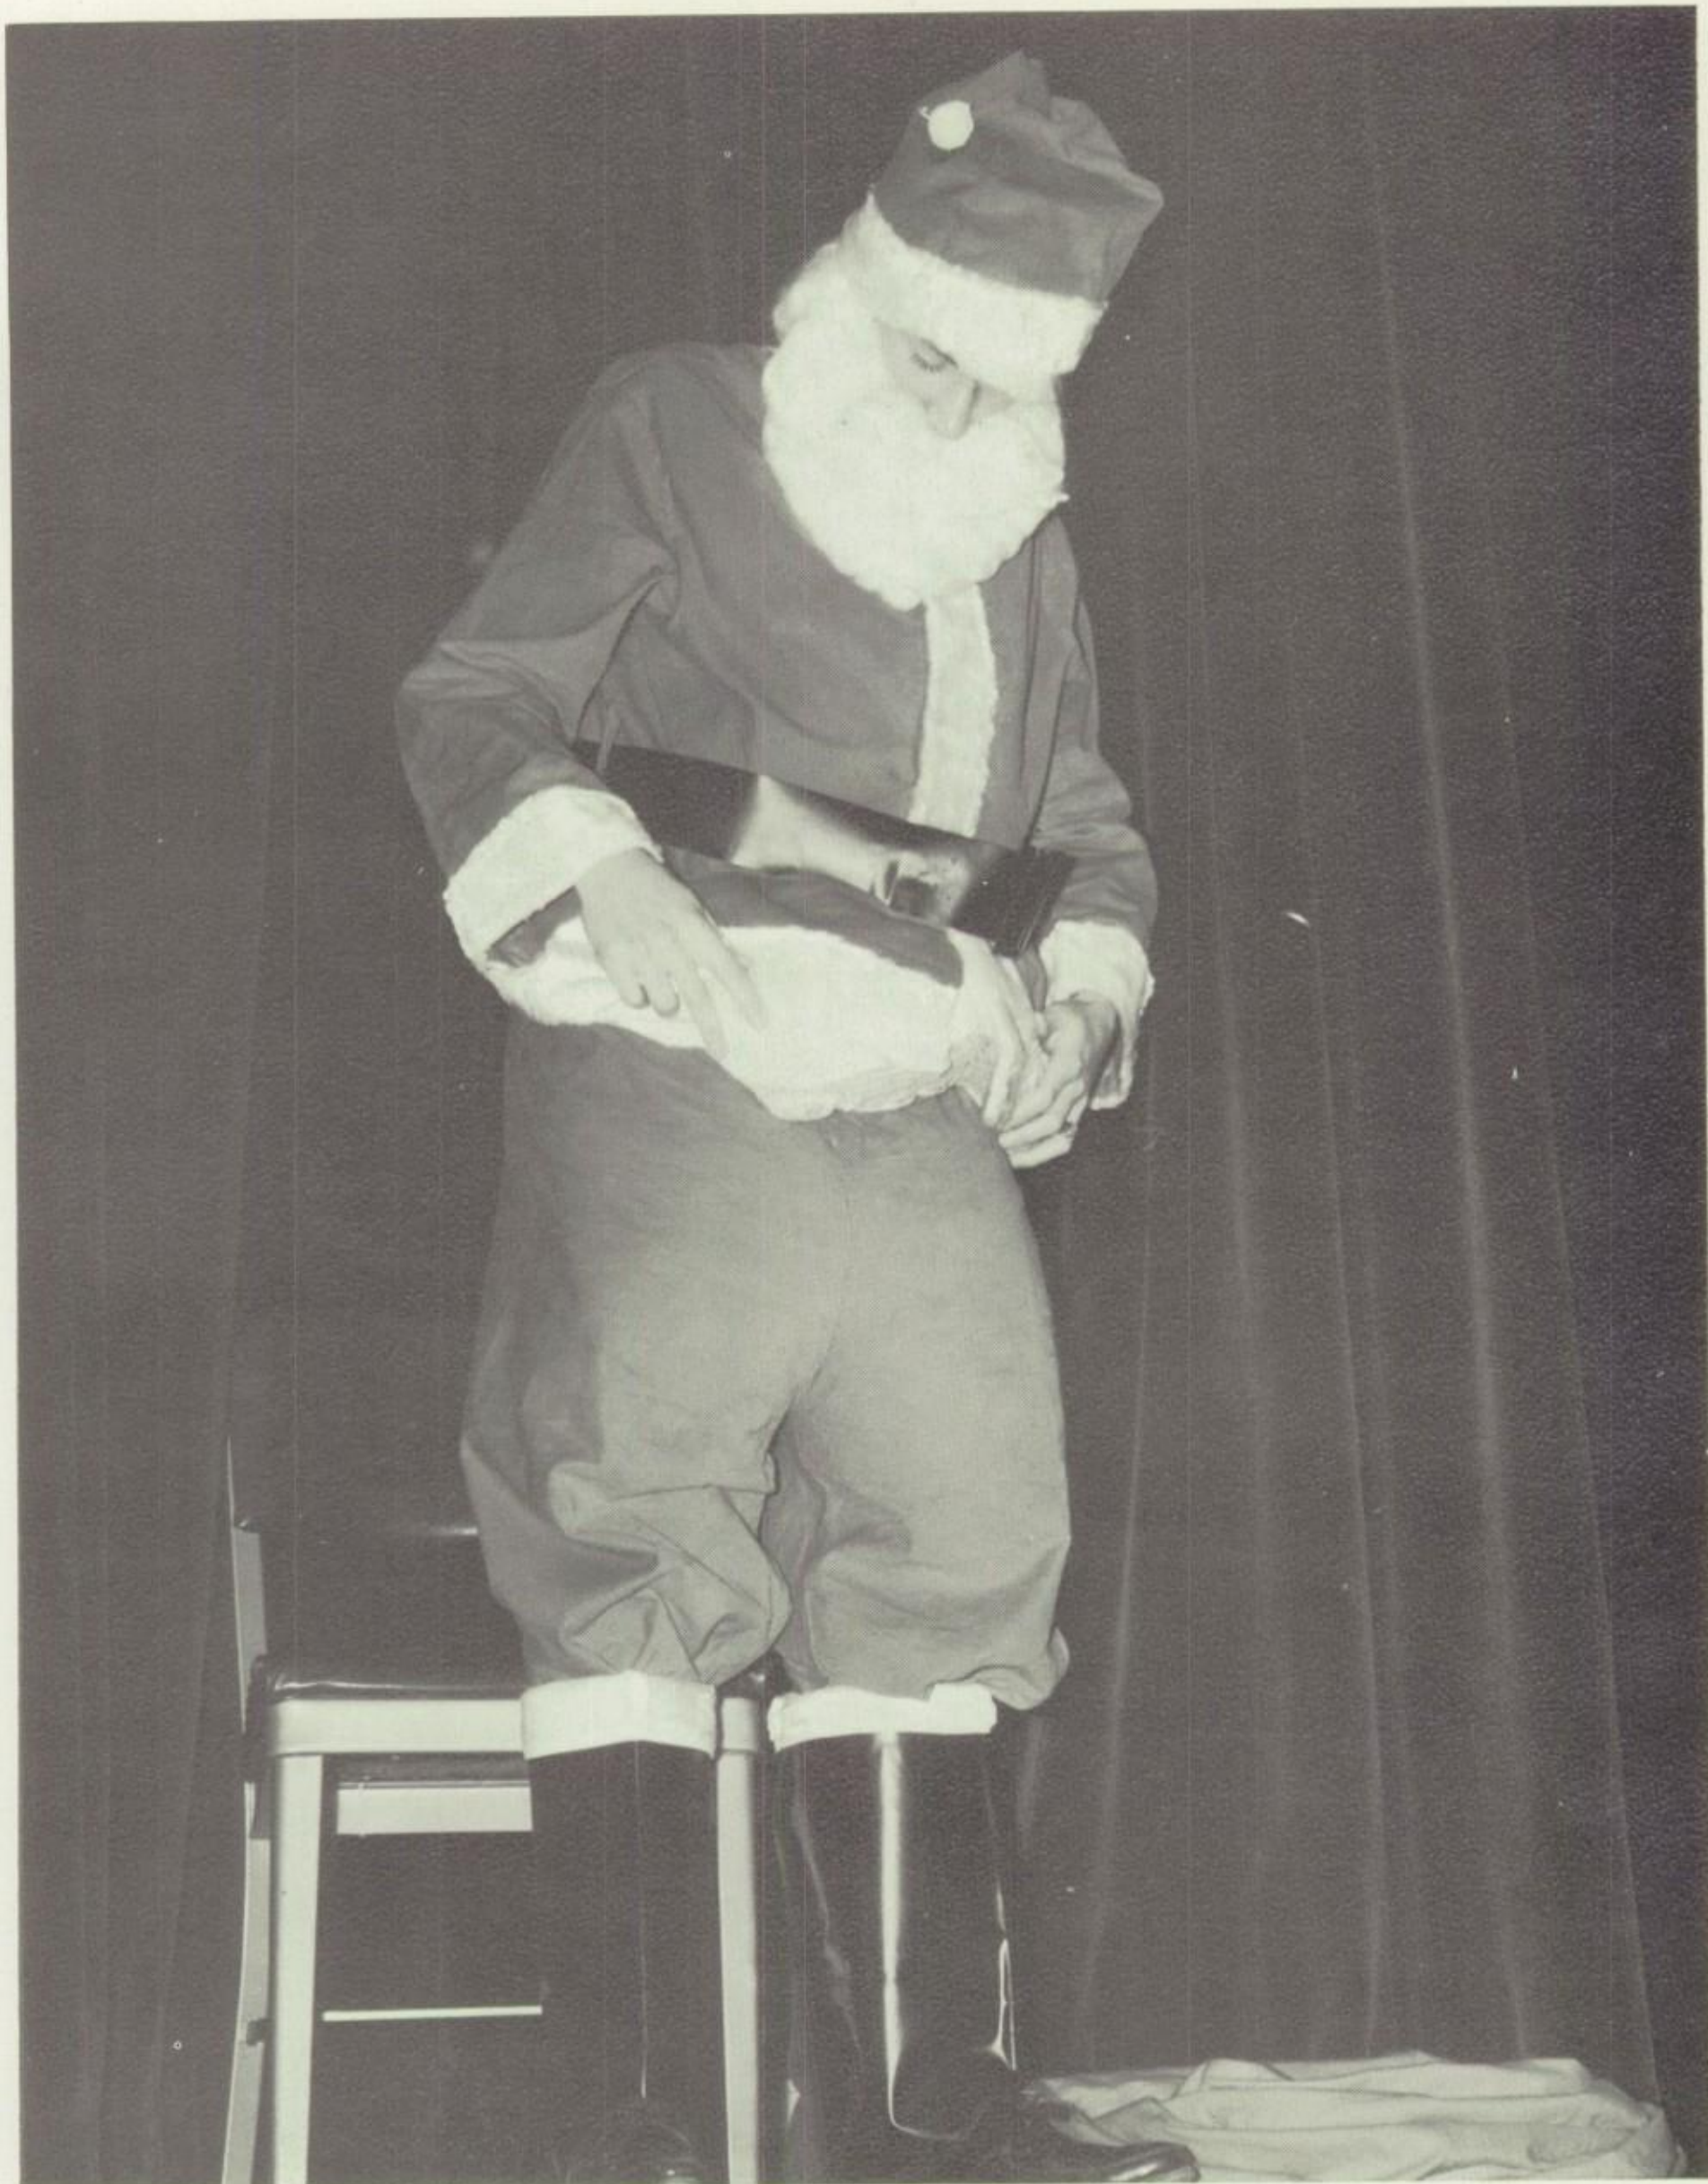

Woodland is collecting stamps to buy milk for unfortunate children, picking photos for "The Warrior," and a donkey basketball game.

Woodland is a Christmas Program with the world's shortest pair of long pants, beautiful music, the Taylor Brothers, and the thinnest Santa Claus in history breaking the place up when his figure began to slip.

Dear Graduates,

Waiting for the first twelve years of schooling to come to an end at times seems like an eternity. Many students give a sigh of relief and say that school is over for good.

However, you must keep one thought in mind upon graduation. THIS IS NOT THE END OF EDUCATION; IT IS NOT EVEN THE BEGINNING OF THE END; IT IS ONLY THE END OF THE BEGINNING.

We are now living in one of the most challenging eras of civilization. No one can afford to look upon high school graduation as the end of education. Society will no longer accept this attitude. Mankind's hopes depend upon each of you to better yourselves in your every opportunity--whether it be vocational, technical, or college education.

If you hope to give your families the golden life which is at your fingertips, you must plan on making every day a day of enrichment.

Shown on this page are those people that seldom receive any recognition, but without whom the school cannot operate, as every student knows. At upper left, custodians, Mr. Dodds, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Maddux; upper right, Mrs. Redfern and her crew of hard working cooks; at lower right, Mrs. Roy and Mrs. Hillyer, and lower left, Mrs. Haywards.

CO-VALEDICTORIANS

NANCY KUSNERIK

"We have the duty as graduates of the Class of '65 to develop good citizenship within at least one person--that person being ourself. Each individual should develop traits of good citizenship within himself first of all. Then and only then, is one able to contribute to the citizenship of his country." . . . Valedictory Address

TERRY HOOBLER

"Seniors, let us go out from here with confidence, with love, and with faith in God to serve humanity with our whole hearts."

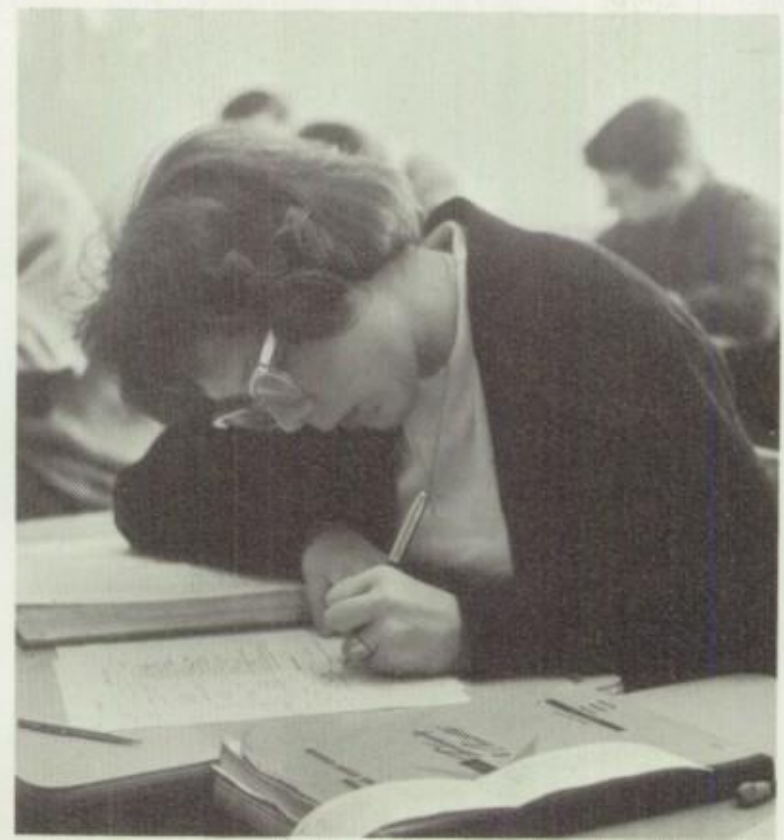

. . . Valedictory Address

Your Student Council sponsored many projects this year, including the GET ACQUAINTED HOP, the three day Homecoming celebration, and their unforgettable Christmas assembly. They conducted a poll to make a more efficient lunch hour, brought the Constitution up to date, composed themes for the months of March, April, and May which were carried out during each month.

Aside from their home activities, the Student Council was very active in the District and State Student Council Organizations. Based on a points system, Woodland ranks second among fifty schools in the Kankakee District of Student Councils.

All things considered, your 1964-65 Student Council did not only a job well, but many jobs.

ACTIVITIES

Queen Nancy and King Dave dance on the stars after the coronation.

Don Galick and Jeanne Redfern, at right, try some punch as Deb Hardin smilingly serves.

Couples dance on the clouds with memories.

Couples dancing to "The Techniques" agreed that the music was perfect.

Just a touch of help from his favorite girl.

Looks of praise and happiness are extended on the faces of the court for Nancy and Dave.

JUNIOR - SENIOR PROM

are last year's Queen Mary Redfern and last year's King Ron Bengtson. On the page at left are scenes which occurred during the Grand March. Everyone seems to be having a wonderful time and Queen Carol the best time of all.

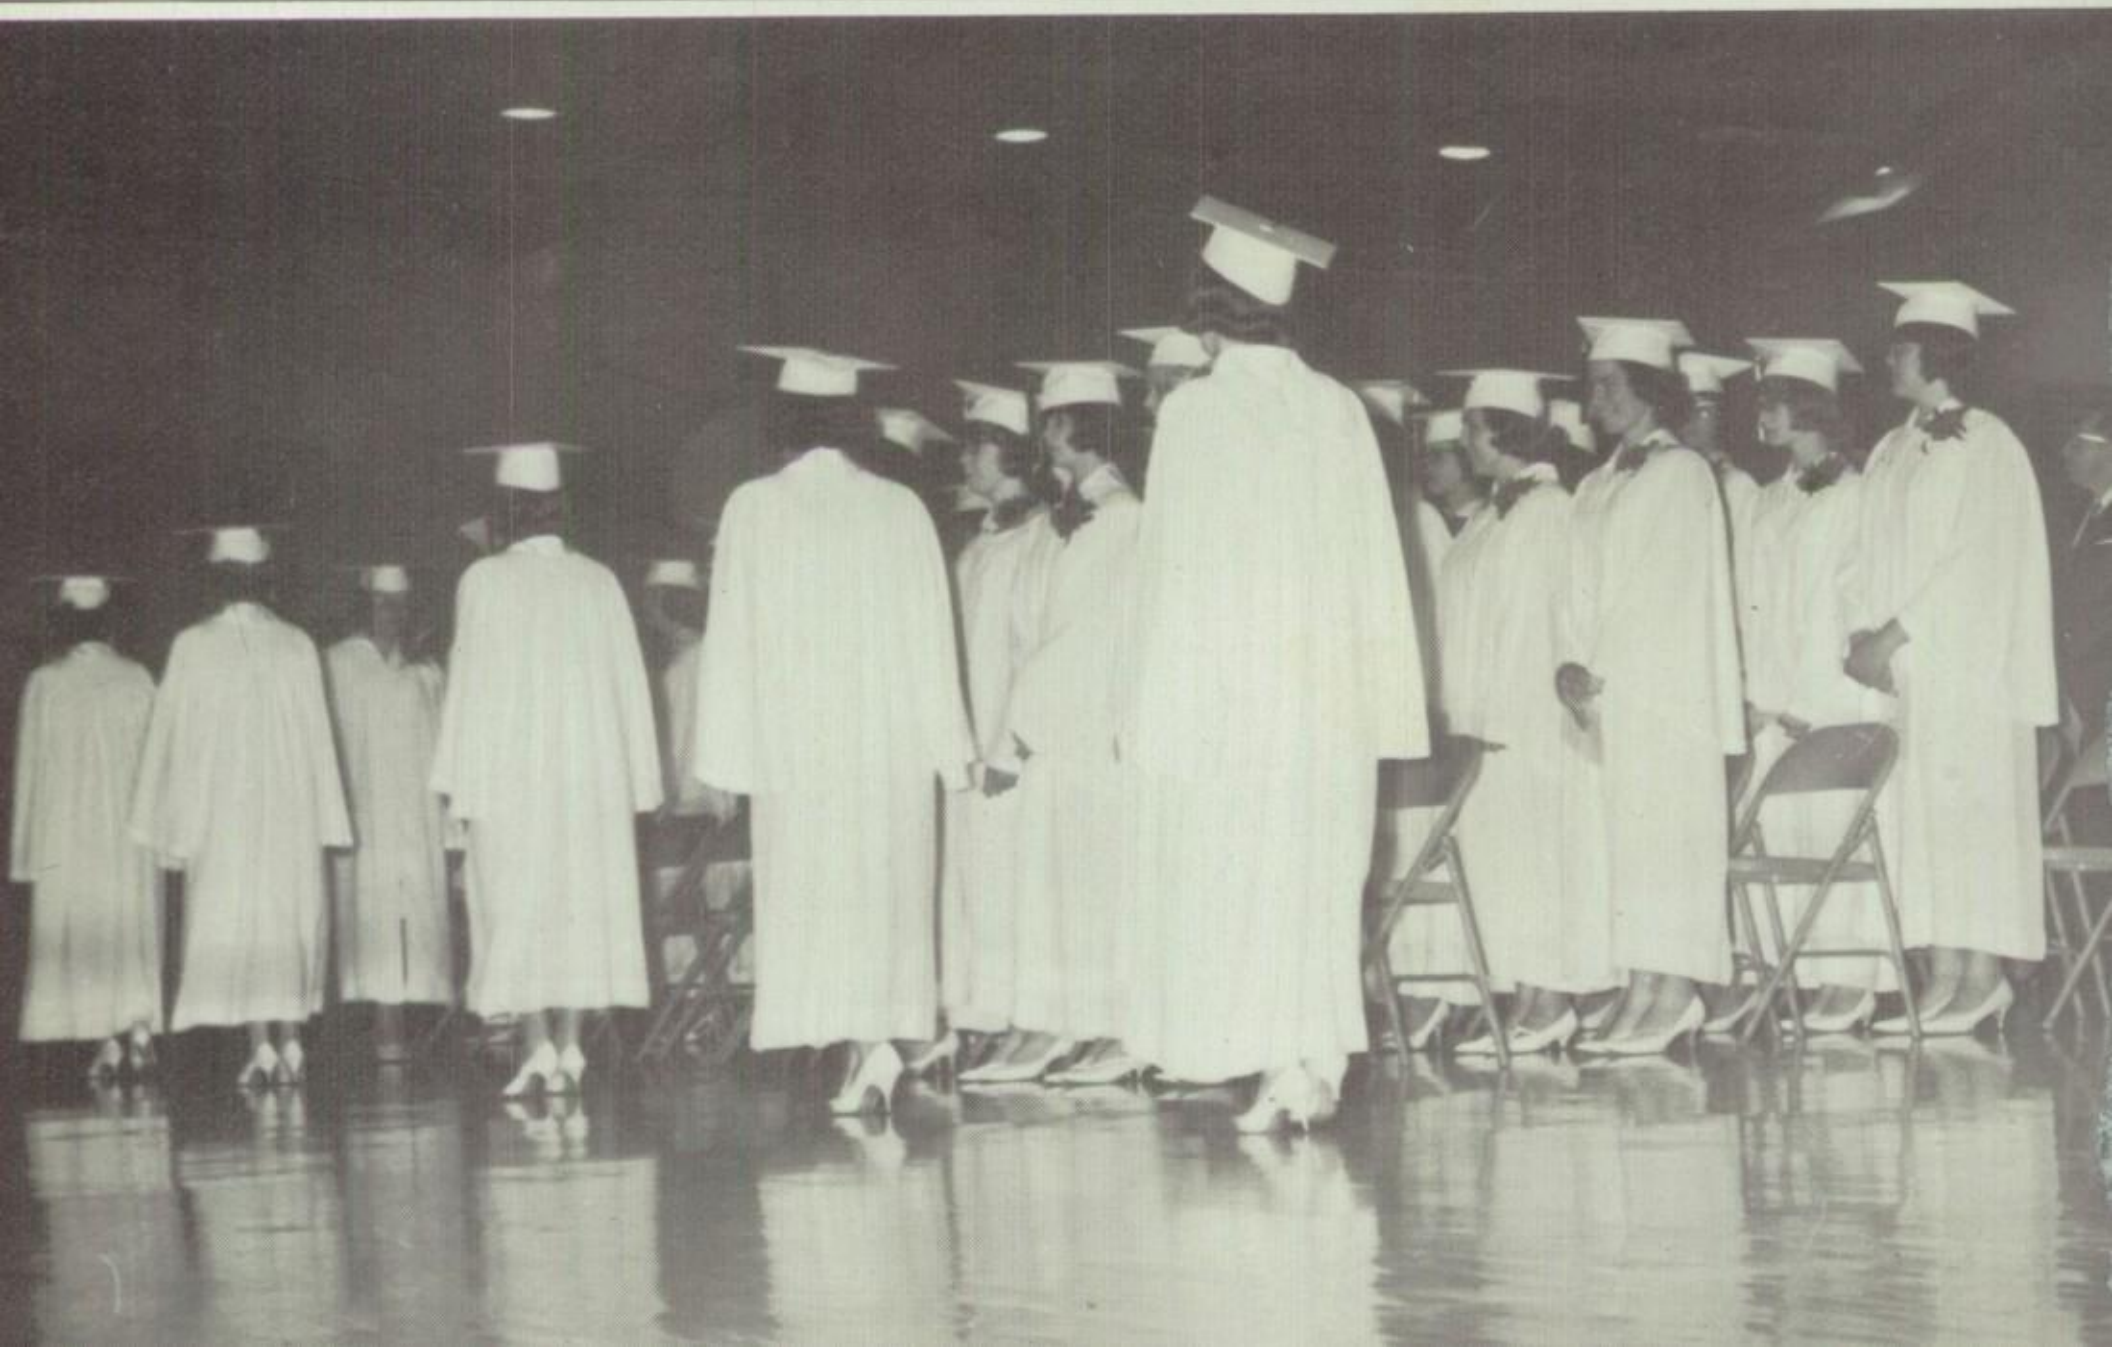

Above, Couples preparing to leave the dance still had stars in their eyes as they anticipated the post-dance activities. The next day was a different story, however. A sleepy Janeen Hart and Carol Horn are back at their table in the gym looking slightly the worse for the wear as they try to keep their eyes open.

"Four years! Where did they go? Is my corsage on straight?" Nancy Kusnerick studies herself in the mirror. "Graduation! I didn't think I'd ever make it. Hold still, Pat, while I pin this rose on you." Pat Sullivan gets an assist from Judy Miller. "Boy, I hate to see it end. No more Key-Clubbing or sports. I'll never see some of these kids again. I wonder what will become of us? I wonder" Ken Martin and Bob Weiss await the signal to start the processional. Graduation is about to begin.

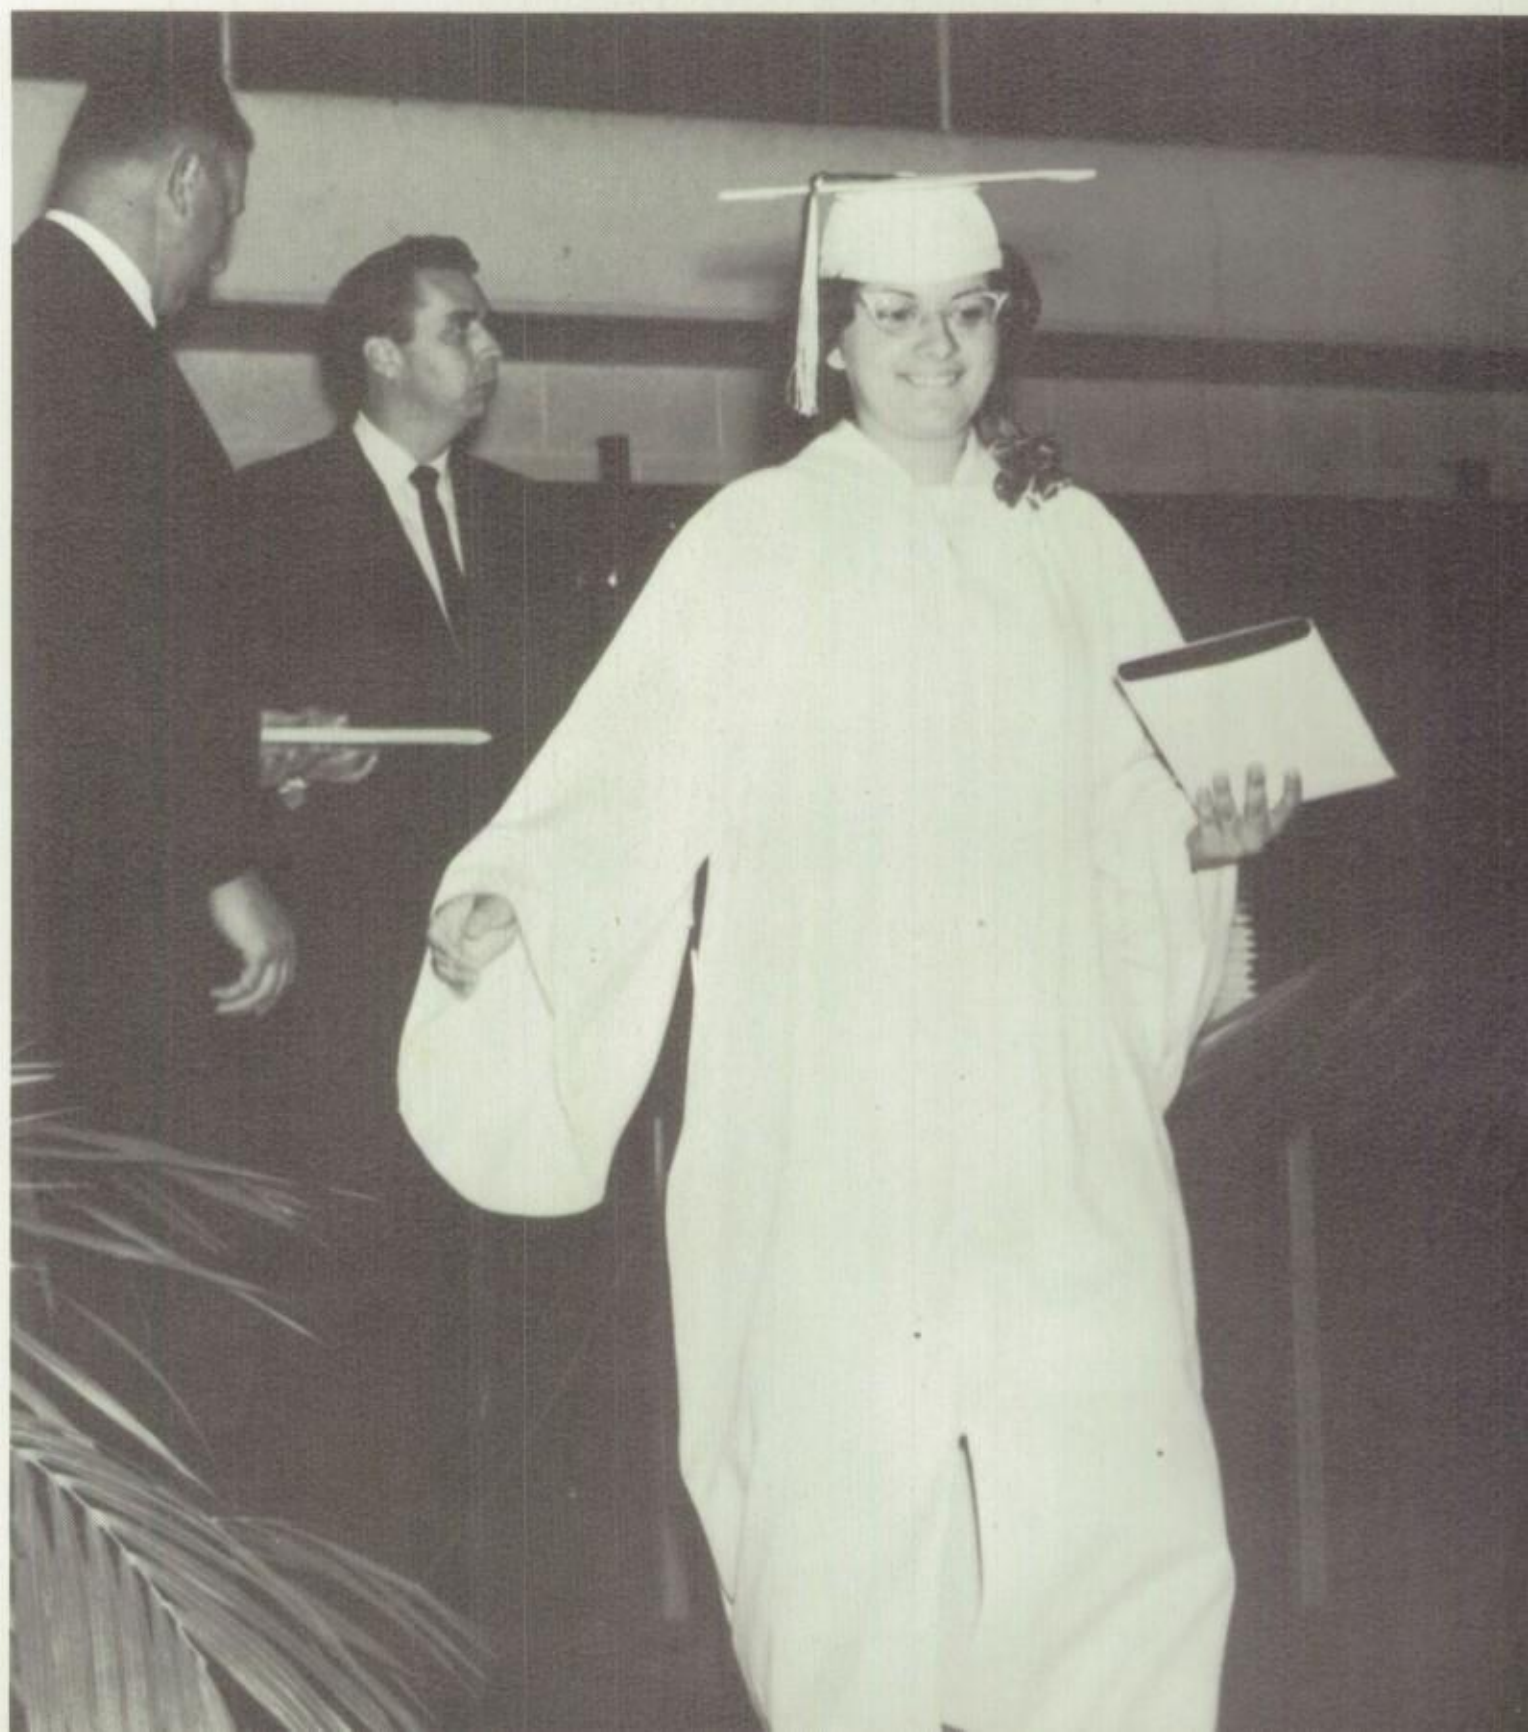

Woodland has a unique graduation custom. Instead of the traditional graduation speaker in the person of a visiting dignitary, Woodland Seniors pick four spokesmen from their group to represent the senior class and give the commencement addresses. Pictured here are the speakers. Above left, JEAN Gaspardo, above right, Bob Weiss, Middle left, Dave Deats and lower right, Sharon Russow. At lower left is Mary Lynn Churney, the mistress of ceremonies as she introduces the spokesmen. "Today's Graduate, Tomorrow's Leader" was the theme of the addresses.

"Four years and now in a few minutes, it'll be all over." The final scene in the drama that is high school is the presentation of diplomas. A mixture of joy, pride and sadness come into play as the graduates go through their last minutes at Woodland. Ken Martin and Paula Stuart typify their classmates as they receive their coveted diplomas.
